

GKSM Govt College Tanda Urmar

M.A. Political Science

(Department of Political Science)

POs and COs

PROGRAM OUTCOMES (POs)

P.G. Political Science Department.

PO1	Students after completing graduation in Political Science can pursue degree in Masters, PhD in Political Science research, policy analysis, can opt for Civil Services preparation and other competitive exams related to public office, can handle some self and non-self-designed district, state and national level projects and can also engage themselves with NGOs and other political organizations.
PO2	Political Science is the scientific study of state and politics. It is social science dealing with state Government and power. It analysis the political activities. Political thought, political behaviour and Ideologies. By studying political science in general the students pursue the following carrier. They Work as government institutions like executive, legislature, judiciary, NGO.
PO3	Students have the advantage of learning and knowing about government policies, rules, regulation which help theirs carrier in Civil Services, Marketing, Advertising, Public Relations, Finance and Banking.
PO4	The students with haves political science back ground can pursue their Career in Generalist, writer, News reader, Analyst on social media by created his own channels.
PO5	If the students have specialisation in following papers which students Studies in P.G. Dept Working as government institutions like executive, legislature, judiciary, NGO.
PO6	Students have the advantage of learning and knowing about government policies, rules, regulation which help theirs carrier in Civil Services, Marketing, advertising, public relations, finance and banking.
PO7	The students with haves political science back ground can pursue their Career in Generalist, writer, News reader, Analyst on social media by created his own channels. They have also carrier as mediator, negotiator and as leader of society or political parties.
PO8	They have also carrier as mediator, negotiator and as leader of society or political parties.

	Program Specific Outcomes (PSO)
PO1	Programme Specific Outcomes (PSOs) and Course Outcomes (COs) include producing among students: I. Knowledge and skill of the subject.
PO2	II. Awareness of and sensitivity to local, national and global problems related to deprivation, socio- political issues, gender, environment, and discriminatory and exclusionary practices.
PO3	III. Interest and capacity for research.
PO4	IV. Employment capacity departmental scrutiny etc. inculcates the ethics in the research publication.

Course Outcomes (Cos) P.G. Political Science Department.

M.A.

Semester-I

Western Political Thought-I

CO1	This paper aims to introduce to the students to the major themes of western political thought. This will be done by undertaking an in-depth study of the key thinkers of this tradition.
-----	--

Key Concepts in Political Analysis

CO1	The course aims at introducing students to the key concepts which are the building blocks of political analysis. Each concept will be studied in terms of the main debates over its nature and scope in the discipline and its relationship with other concepts. After doing this course, the student will be able to discern the conceptual debates which underlie political phenomena.
-----	--

Indian Politics: Institutions at work

CO1	Recently India has witnessed a major thrust in the study of India's political and economic processes. An important component of many such studies has been to refer to the relevant constitutional and institutional aspects. Such studies, sensitive to the constitutional experiences of a 'new democracy', have enriched themselves by undertaking an in-depth analysis of the way the constitutional provisions have been put into practice and also by making an attempt to explore the core ideas that guided the constitution-makers during the deliberations in the Constituent Assembly. The paper aims at making the students aware of the text of the Constitution of India, important debates and the way the institutions have worked over the last more than six and half decades.
-----	--

International Relations: An Historical Overview

CO1	The purpose of this paper is to provide an historical overview of major developments in International Relations since the beginning of the twentieth century.
-----	---

Semester-II

Western Political Thought (II)

CO1	This paper aims to introduce to the students the major themes of western political thought. For this purpose, the paper undertakes a study of the key thinkers of this tradition.
-----	---

Comparative Politics: Understanding Advanced Industrial Societies

CO1	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with recent debates and theories concerning advanced industrial societies, and this will be undertaken in a comparative framework.
-----	---

Indian Politics : Political Processes (Compulsory)

CO1	This course aims to introduce students to politics in India as it has evolved after decolonization. The themes discussed during the course will be those that are crucial to the understanding of the way political processes in the largest democracy of the world unfold in varying forms. The paper takes up the issues for discussion related to the way democratic politics in India has evolved and been shaped in an underdeveloped, multi-ethnic setting along the lines of caste, class, and linguistic and religious identities. It also focuses on the way India's democratic state has fared in promoting economic development, both growth and equity.
-----	---

Theories of International Relations

CO1	The key objective of this course is to provide a comprehensive overview of the major theories in IR, covering the entire disciplinary spectrum from mainstream approaches such as realism, liberalism and constructivism to critical approaches such as post colonialism, postmodernism and feminism. Whereas the course content remains largely theoretical, both historical and contemporary practices are taken as illustrative examples, particularly illuminating non-Western perspectives. This course is expected to act as a catalyst for students to think creatively and critically in search of 'global' International Relations that is inclusive of non-Western perspectives and traditions.
-----	---

Semester-III

Indian Political Thought-I

CO1	The paper aims to introduce students to different discourses in the domain of Indian Political Thought. It includes historical roots, medieval socio-cultural traditions, renaissance and nationalist narratives.
-----	---

Comparative Politics-II: Understanding Developing Societies

CO1	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with key issues and debates in comparative politics with special reference to developing societies.
-----	--

Public International Law-I

CO1	This paper introduces the students to the fundamentals and various other aspects of Public International Law.
-----	---

Public Administration

CO1	This paper will introduce students to different aspects of public administration with special reference to India.
-----	---

Semester-IV

Indian Political Thought-II

CO1	The paper introduces the major themes of Indian Political Thought particularly during the Indian National Movement through a study of the contribution of key thinkers during this period.
-----	--

Foreign Policy of India

CO1	The course tries to underline the changes, which the shifting nature of world order has induced into the more enduring elements and themes of Indian foreign policy. At the same time, India's growing assertion on the world stage as an important international actor is assessed in the light of its role in various global regimes.
-----	---

State Politics in India

CO1	There is much recognition and appreciation of the regional states to be viewed as important political and economic units for developing a theoretical framework for analysing politics and economy undergoing a transition in recent India. The regional states are being considered as critical to the understanding of the issues pertaining to emergent national politics and economy. This course aims to explore the multiple dimensions of state as well as sub-state level politics in India in a comparative perspective.
-----	---

Public International Law-II

CO1	This paper introduces the students to certain specific subjects and the recent trends of Public International Law.
-----	--